

AI Ready Generation

Youth Reflection Journal

Use this journal to capture your big ideas, questions, and future possibilities. Before you start, think about what you knew before, all the things you've learned and all the ways you've engaged with Artificial Intelligence (AI) so far. If you don't know an answer yet, keep learning and return later.

What is something you know now about AI that you didn't know before?

Draw or jot down examples of where you've spotted AI recently.

What have you learned about the role people play in building AI?

Where does AI get the information it uses and what should we watch out for when it makes decisions?

What are some opportunities and challenges AI might create?

If you could design your own AI, what problem would it solve and why is that important to you?

One rule I will follow when I use AI:

One place I will not use AI:

One person I will ask if I am unsure:

Something else you would like to learn more about or try: